1.1 Introduction to this study

This study provides an overview of the overseer shabtis of Pinedjem II. In addition to the published examples I added the shabtis I have come across in the world. I will start off with a short introduction of the ancient owner Pinedjem II and describe his shabtis in general. In the following chapters you will find the museum parallels (chapter 2) and the privately owned parallels (chapter 3).

1.2 Who was Pinedjem II?

The High Priest of Amun Pinedjem II, born around 1030/1025 BC, ruled from the south of Egypt from 990 BC till 969 BC, following his brother Smendes II. He was married to both Nesy-Khonsu and Iset-em-Khebi. Nesi-Khonsu was the daughter of his brother Smendes II and his wife Ta-hen-Djehuty. Iset-em-Khebi was his full sister, both children of the High Priest of Amun Mencheppera. He died around
1.3 Description of the shabtis

In this document I will only describe the overseers.

The overseers are carrying a whip in the left hand to the left shoulder. The right arm is stretched next to the body with a clinching fist.

The overseer types vary in size around between 16 and 18 cm. The overseer types of are all inscribed with just the name and the titles, either: “The Osiris, the High Priest of Amun, Pa-nedjem, True of Voice” or “the Illuminated, The Osiris, the High Priest of Amun, Pa-nedjem, True of Voice”. It is unclear how many overseer shabtis were originally buried in DB 320 for Pinedjem II, but 36 seems a safe consideration. As there relatively few in Cairo and in museums it is likely that the majority of the currently unknown pieces is also located in private collections.

For a full overview of the shabtis of Pinedjem II, including the workers and more details about Pinedjem II in general there is an impressive work written by Peter Raedschelders, unfortunately not published for the general public yet.
